

APPENDIX D

REGION C POPULATION PROJECTIONS/WATER DEMANDS SURVEY INSTRUMENT

Introduction

Welcome to the Region C Water Planning Group survey of population, water demand and water supply. Thank you for taking the time to provide input to this important water planning process. The following questions will collect information from you regarding your population and water demand projections and water supply strategies. We need your input on this data by April 12, 2013 to ensure that the 2016 Region C Water Plan (and the subsequent 2017 State Water Plan) includes adequate water supplies to meet the projected water demands for your entity. If you haven't done so already, please review the new population and water demand projections prepared by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB), which were provided to you as an attachment in the original email that also contained a link to this survey.

If your entity was included as a Water User Group (WUG) in the 2011 Region C Water Plan, then you should also review the previous population, water demand and water supply projections from the 2011 water plan – this information was also provided to you as an attachment in the original email that contained a link to this survey. (If this is the first time your entity has been included as a WUG, then there was no information regarding your specific entity in the 2011 Region C Water Plan, and therefore you did not receive a second attachment.)

The following questions are broken down into the following sections:

Section 1 – General Information

Section 2 – Population and Water Demand

Section 3 – Water Supplies

Section 4 – Conservation, Reuse and Drought Response

If you have any questions, or need help completing this survey, please contact Gil Barnett at (817) 662-1215 or by email at gbarnett@cpyi.com.

Helpful tips for completing this survey:

1. The answers that you provide on each page are saved once you select [Next] at the bottom of the page. If you select [Previous] while in the middle of answering questions on a particular page, then you will lose the information that you typed in on that page. Information provided on previous pages will still be retained.
2. If you want to change a response on a previous page without losing any answers that you've typed on a current page, then select [Next] (to save your current answers), and then select [Previous] until you get back to the desired page.
3. You may exit the survey at any time by closing the web page or browser, and may come back to finish the survey later. If you do so, the survey will remember your previous answers - provided that you selected [Next]. Therefore, if you need to stop in the middle of the survey, you can finish it later without having to re-enter all of the information again from the beginning.
4. If you start entering information from one computer, but then try to switch to a new computer to finish the survey, then it may not remember your previous answers. This is because it creates a new "entry" from the new computer.
5. Once you select [Finish] at the end of the survey, you cannot go back and edit your responses, nor can you access the survey any longer through the link. If you want to change a response after selecting [Finish], please contact Gil Barnett at (817) 354-0189 or gbarnett@cpyi.com.

Section 2a - Population and Water Demand (Cities and Towns)

For this section, please review the new population and water demand projections prepared by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) for the years 2020-2070. This information was provided to you as a PDF attachment in the original email that contained a link to this survey. (If your city/town was included as a WUG in the 2011 Region C Water Plan, you may also want to review the previous projections from that plan. This information was also provided to you as a PDF attachment in the original email.)

* 6. Do you agree with the new population projections for your city (or town)? Please note that these projections are only for your city (or town). If you provide water to other customers outside of your city (or town) limits, then that population is included in projections elsewhere. (If you disagree, you will have the opportunity to recommend your own population projections.)

- The new population projections for 2020-2070 are [reasonably accurate].
- The new population projections for 2020-2070 are [much too low].
- The new population projections for 2020-2070 are [slightly too low].
- The new population projections for 2020-2070 are [slightly too high].
- The new population projections for 2020-2070 are [much too high].

Additional Comments:

7. If you have an estimate of your ultimate build-out population, please enter your build-out population and the approximate year that you expect to reach build-out

Ultimate build-out population:

Anticipated year of build-out:

Please also note that these projections are only for your city (or town). If you provide water to other customers outside of your city (or town) limits, then that population is included in projections elsewhere. (If you disagree, you will have the opportunity to recommend your own water demand projections.)

Section 3f - Water Supplies (New Water Management Strategies)

Existing WUGs (Entity was listed in the 2011 Region C Water Plan):

If you would like to add any new water management strategies as additional future water supply alternatives, then please answer the following questions. If you do not want to add any additional water management strategies, then please select "No" on the next question and skip to the next section.

New WUGs (Entity was not included in the 2011 Region C Water Plan):

If you do not have enough currently available water supplies to meet your future water demand projections, then additional Water Management Strategies must be recommended that allow you to meet your future water demand projections.

Please use this section to list any future water supply strategies that you will use to meet your water demand projections in the future. (Examples might include purchasing additional water from a current supplier, purchasing additional water from another water supplier, installing additional groundwater wells, connecting to an existing reservoir, or developing a water reuse project.) If you do not want to add any additional water management strategies, then please select "No" on the next question and skip to the next section.
